THE GAYETIES AND ACTIVITIES OF THE WEEK

On Valentine's Day.
Lock your heart well up to-day.
There's a rascal thief about;
Throw the precious key away
If you'd keep him out.
He's a master of deceit,
He's a flatterer, and so
He will call you all that's sweet—
Which you are, I know.
All his tricks and wiles he'll try,
Tempting you as best he can;
He knows that safe in there
Is the very key to his—
Sweetheart, have a care!
Yet I may as well confess:
Love is what he calls this key,
And his name is Cupid—yes,
And he comes from me.
—Frank Dempster Sherman, in February Smart Set.

A Resume of Last Week's Society.

The fall of Lent will soon fall upon the society world and the quality and quantity of entertaining will undergo a change. Although to a great many persons the Lenten season has but small significance, its social customs are heeded by all, probably because the balance of social power is held by those who heed the church calendar. To those who enjoyed the whirl of last week's increasing gayeties the change will bring with it a feeling of rest, and from now on late dances and balls will give way to quieter forms of entertainment.

The week just passed has been more than usually full of pleasurable entertainments, probably because of the presence of numerous out-of-town guests. Miss Spencer, of St. Louis, who is Miss Burford's guest, and Mrs. Irving Swan Brown, who is visiting Mrs. A. A. Barnes, have been the recipients of a great deal of attention. Among these were the luncheons given by Miss Van Camp and Mrs. Charles E. Coffin. Mr. and Mrs. George N. Catterson's theater party for Miss Spencer and Mr. and Mrs. Earl M. Ogle's theater party for Mrs. Brown took place on Tuesday night. Miss Burford's informal reception Wednesday afternoon and Mrs. Will C. Burns' tea for Mrs. Brown the same afternoon, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Van Camp's dance at their home on Friday night.

Besides these there have been numerous other functions. Mrs. W. C. De Pauw gave a beautiful luncheon Friday, in honor of her guest, Mrs. J. of Grand Rapids. Mrs. Lyman Louts entertained with a large reception the same afternoon for her sister, Mrs. Bernard Shapker, of Cincinnati; two beautiful receptions at the homes of Mrs. P. B. Raymond, in Woodruff Place, and Mrs. J. Q. Van Winkle, on Central avenue, as well as a score or more of smaller entertainments.

Woman and the Bachelor.

Harper's Weekly.
At last there are more bachelors than spinsters in this country. The feminine portion of our communities will be much interested in this fact, which has resulted from the census of 1900. Now, it has always been popularly supposed that the spinsters predominated, and this current belief has been as a thorn in the side of woman, for the mere existence of a bachelor requires, for the intelligent curiosity of the gentler sex, an explanation. Without the explanation he is in himself, as it were, an enigma, and every woman in her own person presents a slight to the sisterhood. Now the census has cleared up the question of false statistics, and the real fact remains that the bachelors predominate. It becomes necessary, therefore, to inquire why this is so. And the inquiry having scarcely proceeded beyond the first statement of the case, we are, as ever, that woman is the guilty party! For, with the known inconsequence of the sex, it is she who is consciously and voluntarily responsible for the predominance of the unmarried man. We learn that the fashionable matron declines to marry, that she has so systematically performed this rite over him that his species has been separated into kinds, of which "the corner man," "the dancing man," "the dinner man," etc., are the best known and most carefully cultivated varieties. So highly considered and so actively in demand, so dined and wined, are these popular unmarried men that their personal expenses are reduced to a minimum, and they become among men even as the lilies of the field. They are, so to speak, the supermen in the drama of life, to be engaged as they are, where he is, threatening possibilities which must give her pause.

A Social Incident.

Philadelphia Times.
At the close of a tea in a house in the fashionable quarter recently one of the guests could find no trace of the new seal-skin coat which she had worn that afternoon for the first time. When each of the late partiers had donned her wraps she was still left a seal-skin coat that was decidedly the worse for wear. The hostess was pensive in her expressions of regret and her friend was obliged to temporarily accept the old coat in place of the new one. She proceeded to her room where she looked for it, was the name, written in indelible ink on a piece of tape, of the lady who had given the tea!

FOOD WILL DO IT

Made Over a Man of 60.
Food that will put the vigor of life into a man of sixty is worth knowing about. Mr. Charles E. Allen, of 5304 Master street, Philadelphia, Pa., says: "Five years ago at the age of fifty-nine I was advised by a friend to adopt rolled oats for my breakfast diet. In the place of white bread, I followed the advice with some benefit, but was still troubled with heart weakness and general debility, requiring medicine from time to time; the bowels were also affected to an extent."
"About six months ago while still half sick and very weak I commenced to use Grape-Nuts Breakfast Food and soon noticed an improvement in my general health, with the gradual disappearance of unfavorable symptoms. Heart palpitation decreased and a new feeling of vigor manifested itself. In various ways. Tonic were no longer needed, bowels became natural, nerves were steady and I seemed to have returned, in a great degree, to the vigor of middle age. There has also been a gain in flesh, my weight having increased from 125 to 155 pounds."
"You are welcome to use my name if you desire to publish this voluntary testimony."

Layman: "Our Modern Novelists," Mrs. Griggs.
Monday Afternoon Club—Feb. 13, with Mrs. N. O. Warth, "Life in Holland," Mrs. J. A. Wasson, "Dutch Pottery," Mrs. Perry Hostler.

The Annual Sale UNDERMUSLINS

It matters little whether you wish to buy or not, we hope you will not miss this extraordinary display of WHITE UNDERGARMENTS. The magnitude of the stock compels admiration at the very start, but when one notices the wonderful variety, the exquisite examples of fine needle work, the ornate fluffiness and refined plainness, the sensible, matter-of-fact garments side by side with the most bewildering concoctions of Parisian designers—then and only then does one realize the great preparations we have made for this great sale. PRICES ARE LOWER THAN YOU HAVE EVER KNOWN, while the workmanship, finish, design and material is of the best, the sorts you approve of and insist upon having.

New Wash Fabrics

We are showing to-morrow what Paris will show later, but American women will never see in Paris what they can see here. The most beautiful that the world makes are spread out here in profusion. The most exclusive in small quantities to be seen, but a rare choice for all that. The robes are lovely—wonderfully simple with entendreau of lace and embroidery. The Swisses, Plumetis, Mousselines, Dimities, Linens and Batistes appeal to you through their bewitching simplicity, for, after all, simplicity is the key note which will be supplemented by profusions of lace, Irish or Point de Venise or embroidery.

Embroideries
